

INDORSED LYNCH

Hopkins County Republican Convention Unanimous and Enthusiastic.

SOME GOOD SPEECHES MADE.

Report on Resolutions — C. J. Waddill Will Make Number of Speeches in Campaign.

Pursuant to call the Republicans of Hopkins county met in convention at Madisonville, Saturday, September 8, 1900, at 1:30 p. m., in the Courthouse, for the purpose of sending delegates to the district convention at Henderson, Tuesday, September 11, to nominate a candidate for Congress.

The convention was called to order by County Chairman John B. Harvey. The name of Will P. Scott was placed in nomination for temporary chairman by R. J. Salmon, which nomination was seconded by L. F. McLaughlin. C. J. Waddill then moved to make the nomination unanimous, which was done with a whoop. R. J. Salmon, J. H. Lunsford and Dr. T. W. Gardiner were appointed a committee and escorted Mr. Scott to the chair. Paul M. Moore was then nominated for secretary by Thomas E. Finley and elected without opposition. The temporary organization was then, upon motion, made permanent.

The attendance at the convention from every quarter of the county filled the Courthouse to overflowing, and the enthusiasm and unity of that great crowd of Republicans gave the advocates of Goebelism a surprised feeling of weakness, and to the Honest Election Democrats the positive assurance of the hearty and unanimous support of William Lynch by the Hopkins County Republicans.

Mr. Scott, upon taking the chair, made a brief but happy speech, in which he expressed his hearty appreciation at having been made unanimously the chairman of so large a convention of Republicans.

The chair then appointed the following committee on resolutions: Wyatt Edmonds, J. H. Lunsford, William Beard, L. R. Fox, Toney Bradley, W. H. Ross, R. J. Salmon, and the committee retired to prepare its report.

While the committee was out speeches were heard from Rev. O. Durrutt, of Dawson Springs; L. F. McLaughlin, of the Hanson country, and C. J. Waddill. Rev. Durrutt made a rousing speech in which he punctured some vulnerable points of Goebelism, and said some things not calculated to reassure the supporters of Mr. Beckham. He assured his hearers that the colored men were brave enough to vote for an Honest Election Democrat; that they would vote anywhere and work anywhere to defeat Goebelism and secure the election of Yerkes.

Mr. McLaughlin spoke chiefly along the lines of national politics. Mr. Waddill said he would make no speech, but what he said briefly, impressed his hearers as being an excellent speech in itself. Among his first utterances were: "I do not see how any patriotic lover of his country, in the closing year of the Nineteenth Century, can fail to cast his vote for that peerless statesman, William McKinley." "I really cannot conceive of any issue with which the Democratic party can this year fool the people." He said further "that he might not have heard the best speeches that had been made from a Kentucky Democratic standpoint this year; that he had only heard 'Oily Jeems.'" He said that Ollie was not named for Jesse James; that his initials were 'O. M.'; that he had it upon best authority that O. M. stood for Oily Mulhattan James. And he said that Oily Mulhattan Jeems, in his speech, "gave the devil-fish the devil and electrocuted the octopus." Mr. Waddill pledged himself to make all the speeches his friends desired him to make during the coming campaign.

The committee on resolutions reported through its chairman, R. J. Salmon, the following:

We, the Republicans of Hopkins county, in convention assembled, reaffirm our allegiance to the G. O. P. and its principles, as enunciated in its platform at the Philadelphia Convention and in our State Convention at Louisville.

We approve of this call for Congressional Convention and endorse the action of our candidates in withdrawing in favor of Mr. Lynch.

We select the following named persons as delegates to the Henderson convention, and instruct them to cast the twenty-five votes of Hopkins for William Lynch, and use all honorable means to secure his nomination: Will P. Scott, L. R. Fox, C. J. Waddill, C. J. Pratt, Perd Lutz, A. M. Barnett, H. F. Porter, L. F. McLaughlin, J. D. Haywood, J. W. Slaton, Lawrence Rodgers, Milton Durham, Thomas Scott, J. H. Lunsford, W. H. Ross, Wyatt Edmonds, Claude Fox, D. C. Morrow, Shaek Wyatt, J. B. Harvey, John Todd, M. Cain, Paul M. Moore, R. J. Salmon, W. R. Toney.

Signed by: R. J. SALMON, Chm'n.

Upon motion the convention then adjourned.

A full delegation went to the Henderson convention. There is great enthusiasm among Hopkins County Republicans, which is very encouraging to the coming fight for John W. Yerkes and William Lynch, and they went to Henderson to show it. In addition to this the idol of Kentucky Republicans, Hon. John W. Yerkes, spoke at Henderson that day to an enormous crowd, which many Hopkins County Republicans helped to make big and enthusiastic.

A SAD AFFAIR.

Mrs. G. Browning, of Mortons Gap, Died From Over Dose of Morphine.

One of the saddest deaths that ever occurred in this county, was when Mrs. Lizzie Browning, wife of G. Browning, of Mortons Gap, died from an over dose of morphine last Wednesday evening. Mrs. Browning, husband of the deceased, was seriously hurt in the mines a few weeks ago. This, with severe bodily suffering, weighed so heavily upon her body and mind that she was almost a complete wreck, and it is thought that she took morphine for the purpose of alleviating her suffering, but, unfortunately, took too large a dose. Mrs. Browning was about 30 years old and was Miss Lizzie Phillips before her marriage to Mr. Browning some six or seven years ago.

She was a woman of a kind disposition, and had many friends amongst her many acquaintances. She leaves a husband and little daughter and other relatives, all of whom have the deepest sympathy of the Bee and its readers. Rev. R. M. Wheat conducted the funeral services at the Earlinton cemetery Friday morning in the presence of a large concourse of sorrowing friends and relatives, after which her remains were laid to rest.

A Card of Thanks.

To the People of Earlinton: I wish to extend my sincere thanks to the good people of this town for the kindness shown me during my late illness. And may I say to the sisters that by me, long will your kindness be remembered, for many were the weary hours that you shortened by your presence. Respectfully, W. G. FLEETON.

THE PLANS NOW BEING ADJUSTED.

Plans have been adopted for Earlinton's new Masonic Temple and Opera House, and one of the handsomest lots in town selected for its location.

It was originally intended to build on the lot adjoining the Christian Church, on Main street, a part of the ground used as a playground for the Public School, but the stockholders have now agreed to erect the building on the northwest corner of Robinson and Clark streets, just across from the Gough corner.

School Begins Next Monday—New Seats Ordered and Windows Put in Assembly Hall.

The Earlinton Public School will open in the assembly hall next Monday, September 17. It was intended to begin this week but, in order to make provision for properly lighting the building and providing new desks and tables for the pupils, the trustees and the teachers agreed it was best to postpone school for one week. New desks have been ordered and a number of large tables have already been made. Carpenters are preparing to put eight additional windows in to furnish an abundance of light. The reading room will be arranged into recitation rooms, and perhaps and additional room be cut off from the main body of the hall. It has been found that the whole school can be accommodated at Assembly Hall, so that it will not be necessary for the trustees to take advantage of the kind offers of the people and official members of the Christian and Southern Methodist churches, to use their church buildings if necessary.

The building will front on Clark street, and will be a credit to the progressive little city of Earlinton. The grade of the lot has been platted by Frank D. Rash, and the plans returned to the architect, in order that he may change the plans to conform to the newly selected site. No objection has been offered to this site, which is more valuable than the one formerly considered, except that it is only one square from the railroad yards, and it is believed that the thick brick walls of the building will exclude the sounds to such an extent that this will not prove a serious drawback. Bids will be called for at an early day and the work will proceed, if the bids are low enough, as soon as bids are considered and contract let.

That well known public spirit of the people of Earlinton has been manifesting itself in a most commendable way since the destruction of the school building by fire. There is a general feeling in favor of the erection of a modern and commodious school house that will be sufficient for our present and growing needs. The trustees are daily being approached by citizens all of whom are of one mind on the subject and are gratified to see such general interest in the school question. A number of them have volunteered to subscribe to the fund for the erection of a modern school building, and all urge the building and equipping of a house that will be a credit to Earlinton. This is no hard proposition at all if all will do their part. It can be done quickly and without burden to anybody.

With our new opera house and lodge rooms, new depot and a new school building, and the town ought to have, Earlinton will be making progress suitable to its importance as a thrifty industrial center. We believe the people are for it.

From Frankfort.

Frankfort, Ky., Sept. 10, 1900.—EDITOR BEE, Earlinton, Ky.:—In obedience to the call of the Governor of Kentucky, we the members of the General Assembly are here for the purpose of making some change or changes in our present election law which has caused more trouble in the state of Kentucky than any other laws ever passed. My position, as stated on the floor of the house, and which I trust meets the approval of those I represent is this: First, I am in favor of an absolute repeal of the Goebel Law, second, I am opposed to state and county election boards with judicial powers but will vote for a fair non-partisan law even if it has boards of commission provided its duties are simply ministerial and simply count the votes and certify to the result and if any party or person should should feel aggrieved they may have the contest tried on its merits in the courts with a right to appeal to Court of Appeals. Third, I am in favor of the county judges appointing the election officers from a list submitted by the democrats and republicans, the sheriff and clerk alternating in the several precincts, thereby making all things equal and the count to be returned to the county clerk and counted by the judge, clerk and sheriff, of the counties in the presence of a representative of each party and in the state.

Let the Governor, Secretary of State and Auditor constitute the canvassing board with only clerical powers and charged with the counting in the presence of a representative of each party and all contests to go to the courts and so only in case of members of the Legislature as they are judge of their own member and Governor and Lieut. Governor which is prescribed by constitution. These are my sentiments as stated on the floor. We may be enabled to get a fair law, the only difference is the Goebelle always insist upon an umpire and having contests tried before the boards, we are doing all we can however.

Mike Long is a splendiferous fellow and has many friends, and of whom are sorry to learn of his misfortune and hope for his speedy restoration to health.

SPLENDID CROWDS.

Hear Hon. John W. Yerkes at All Western Kentucky Towns.

GREAT ENTHUSIASM MANIFESTED.

"He Looks Like a Governor." Talks Like One and the People Promise he Shall be Governor.

In the body of the magnificent audience of farmers, merchants, manufacturers, miners, professional men of all parties, and noble women, all lovers of liberty and righteousness in government, which assembled in the capacious tabernacle at Hopkinsville to hear Hon. Jno. W. Yerkes, one gentleman leaned over and whispered to another a sentiment that was in the minds of that vast audience: "He looks like a governor."

And so he does. He does more than this by far; he speaks like a governor—does not need to read his speech like a school-boy oration that someone else might as well have written, and makes a new speech each day to meet the ever changing charges of the enemy—he thinks and acts like a governor, and is today the living likeness of the next governor of Kentucky by grace of the people at the next November election.

At Marion and at Mayfield Mr. Yerkes was greeted by immense crowds. Even at Dawson, where he went for rest, word was passed around that he was coming and five hundred importunate voters who wanted to hear the truth assembled and he perfectly addressed them to their great delight.

At Henderson Tuesday he addressed some 2,600 people who were Republicans from the Second district and people of Henderson county and city of all parties, with a goodly sprinkling of Brown Democrats. Here he was in splendid voice and made perhaps the strongest speech since his opening speech at Bowling Green, which was furnished in full to the readers of The Bee last week and which is still in demand.

The secret is out among some of Mr. Yerkes close friends that this year is the first time that his good wife has ever given her consent to his participation in political affairs as a candidate, to which truly his own opposition has in the past been almost as strenuous as her own. But this year the husband was deluged with such a multitude of letters from sincere friends and the influential and recognized leaders in Kentucky politics—the call was so urgent and so unmistakably the call to duty that the wife said "go." And he is in the fight, leading the allied forces of civil liberty and righteousness self government in Kentucky upon whose triumphs all the future hopes of Kentuckians who look for the restoration of the rights of citizenship, which our forefathers have enjoyed.

A Loaded Carriage.

Mr. Dolph Fowler, of near Hanson, came to town one day last week in a one-horse buggy and below is a list of the things to eat that he brought along for sale: fifteen gallons of damsons, two bushels of pears, one-half bushel of peaches, three dozen roasting ears, sixteen heads of cabbage, two bushels of beans, one dozen tomatoes and one bushel Irish potatoes. It seems almost impossible to carry such a load in an ordinary buggy, but it shows what an enterprising farmer can do. Mr. Fowler easily disposed of his load and happily wended his way homeward.

LOCOMOTIVE BLASTS.

Dispatcher Sheridan and a crew of men responded to an emergency call last Tuesday when the telegraph wires all went down, and communication was soon restored.

Operator James Cravens has resigned to go west.

L. & N. agent Bramwell was successful in settling two important cases, by compromise this week. Robt. Davenport and Mr. Pickett both accepted an offer from the company.

Nebos Happenings.

Tobacco all in, and if we could get a high rain, a big crop of wheat and grass could be sowed.

There seems to be a kind of epidemic in barn burning in this locality. First, B. L. Porter lost a part of his crop by fire; Norman Hobgood lost his entire crop; R. P. Hill lost his entire crop; then Burt McLaughlin lost his barn burned. He saved a part of the crop, but his loss was about $5,000 pounds. A negro living two or three miles of Nebo also lost his crop by fire, thus making in all between twenty and thirty thousand pounds destroyed by fire within five days, in less than two miles of Nebo.

Business is reviving in Nebo. Everything is stirring. Coal and lumber wagons run day and night.

The contract to build the new factory was let to McBride, who has been with a crew of men who have been tearing down the old factory. Work will begin on the new factory this week. Every man who wants work can get it at a good price and still some of our latest combination of hard times, when there is four times the demand for labor at double price compared to four years ago. There is five times as much money in circulation in this locality as there was then.

Sickness is still on the increase, but so far no very serious cases are reported.

Miss Martha Durham, who has been quite sick with bilious fever, is better.

What might have been quite a serious accident occurred here Monday morning, when Postmaster Durham, who is also a blacksmith, while engaged in shoeing a horse, fell and the horse fell on him, hurting both his ankles. He was confined to his room for several days, but is now able to be out.

C. C. Givens, of the Hustler, was in the city this week, shaking hands with his friends. Bud is one of the best fellows in the world, barring his politics.

Several of our citizens attended the Republican convention at Madisonville Saturday.

DOWN IN THE MINES.

A blind man could almost see the object of the articles now appearing in a labor journal and written by persons claiming to be members of the U. M. W., residing at Barnsley and Madisonville. That they are members in good standing is doubted for the reasons that they are in this country a person must work. If he should be unfortunate to be without ample means to support him in idleness, and these fellows have not been known to labor for many months, their dues and pauper subscription fee must stand unpaid. But be that as it may, you can plainly see by perusing their epistles that they are in dire distress; and to make their plea for help more impressive, they try to encourage the donors in other States by statements that want been investigation as to conditions of the mines here in Hopkins county, which for months past has grown from bad to worse, until at last it is about to collapse entirely, and would do so if the writers above referred to were not placed here to whistle to keep up courage. Almost daily their number is decreasing, some returning to work and others leaving the county, and their pitiful plea sent up for help shows their last condition. Money is what they want and what they are writing for, and money or the necessities of life must come or the last few faithful laborers will desert them.

Tate's epistle shows he may now be on the miners' bench as he dwells so long and seriously on the question of repentance, and now Mr. Agitator Tate, why don't you comply with the Bible instruction wherein we are taught, "Six days shalt thou labor." Now, Tate, go to work and show some manhood, bid the saloons a last farewell, and remember.

"As long as the lamp holds out do not burn."

The vilest sinner may return. Yes, go to work "and earn thy bread by the sweat of thy brow," as thousands of honest men in this county now do. Don't feel away time making false charges against Mr. J. B. Atkinson, whose wise management and counsel have proved such a blessing to the laborers of Hopkins county and State of Kentucky.

Last Saturday while in Henderson we met up with a young miner from the Basket mine, who stated that since the miners there had renounced the U. M. W. Workers, they were doing much better. Puckett, the words and who referred briefly to his trouble with the striking miners, and the condition of affairs as they now exist. He said they now had all the help needed, and many applications for positions. A large part of the striking miners now want to go to work, and that quite a number would be given places upon their renouncing the union, when business would be permitted. Miners generally throughout the State show great interest in the candidacy of John W. Yerkes for Governor. They recognize in him an honest man, opposed to the Goebel election law or any law that will abridge the rights of the miner or other laborer. At all points where he stopped in an adjoining county, he was met by a large number of miners who accorded him a hearty welcome.

Secretary George C. Atkinson, of the St. Bernard Coal Company, made a business trip to Hopkinsville last Thursday, and while there heard Yerkes' great speech. George did not answer the speech, so we take it for granted he might be induced to take the fight for the Populist candidate was not in the way.

Secretary I. Bailey, of the Reincke, was called to Earlington on business one day last week.

The President of the St. Bernard Coal Company, Mr. J. B. Atkinson, is back from the East, and is fully convinced that the political horizon that is bright for the Republicans and sound money.

Wheiger James Fagan says the record for the last four years at No. 9 mine is good, and that during that time is good of days lost for work on account of illness, only about five days have been lost.

The reopening of manufactures and the starting of new ones the past four years was the cause of the great prosperity enjoyed by the people, this was new coal markets established and the miner joined in reaping the harvest. Now come along Bryan, who advocates a doctrine or policy which will bring ruin to all, by cutting down the purchasing power of the present dollar to about one-half it is now.

The Harvey Coal & Coke Co. has entered suit against the Chesapeake & Ohio Railway Company for $175,000 damages. The suit is to test the question whether or not the coal companies can secure recompense for the railroad company for failure to furnish cars to all shippers alike; the expense of the suit is borne jointly by several coal operators, each of whom has a similar suit ready to file.

Present indications it appears the coal shipments for August from Newport News will be the largest on record. The total for the month will probably reach 200,000 tons, of which at least 25,000 tons are for foreign countries.

A St. Louis, N. F., dispatch says a coal famine now threatens the colony of Newfoundland. The establishment of a large smelting center at Sydney absorbs the greater part of the Cape Breton output, and the failure of Reid's mines, leaves the colony without any local production. Sydney coal has advanced 30 per cent, and there is probably not enough to supply the winter's demand.

The first shipment of coal from the Berryville, W. Va., mines was made on the 19th. The mines, when in full operation, will be among the largest in the State. One of the first carloads of coal was shipped to Philadelphia as a present to Mrs. A. G. Dayton, wife of Congressman Dayton, who was influential in establishing and opening these mines.

A load of coal is left out of doors, exposed to the weather—say, a month—it loses one-third of its heating quality. If a ton of coal is placed on the ground and left there and another ton is placed under a pile, the latter loses about 25 per cent of its heating power, the former about 47 per cent; hence it is a great saving of coal to have it in a dry place, covered over and on all sides.

The softer the coal the more heating power it loses, because the volatile and valuable constituents undergo a slow combustion.

It is estimated that the exports of coal from the United States this year will aggregate $20,000,000 in value, against $10,000,000 in 1890 and $10,000,000 in 1890. In the seven months ending with July the exports were 4,001,755 tons. In ten years the exports have quadrupled. These have been especially marked to British North America, Mexico, Cuba, Porto Rico, Hawaii and the Philippines. The experiments with American coal, which the Europeans have made within the last two or three years, seem to have proved successful, as the exports to Europe, which in the seven months of 1890 amounted to only 4,577 tons, were in the corresponding months of 1900, 278,572 tons. Of this, 187 tons went to the United Kingdom, 408 tons to Germany, 71,407 tons to France and 197,960 to other European countries.

Who frowned that rock at John S. Rhea? Was it the Republican party of Kentucky or hoodlums of Butler County?

GEO. DAN COLLIER on Monday succeeded Leslie Combs as Pension Agent for Kentucky, his bond having been approved, and entered upon the duties of his office.

There is more talking out in meeting by independent voters this year in Kentucky than ever before, or at least in this part of Kentucky. And it may be taken as an evidence of a sincere purpose.

It is reported that Mr. Beckham says he wants to be elected "honestly." He certainly has already had sufficient experience holding office dishonestly to surfeit any young man of aristocratic birth.

The difference between Mr. Beckham's reading recently given at Henderson and the masterful speech of Hon. John W. Yerkes delivered there Tuesday, was significant and was remarked on every hand.

The attack in the dark near Morgantown, upon John S. Rhea, with eggs and stones, from all of which Mr. Rhea escaped, had the very extenuating circumstance of following closely after one of Rhea's vilely abusive campaign speeches.

Upon whatever side of politics he may be and advocating never so good and laudable a principle the occasional newspaper correspondent should take care not to let his desire run away with his conservatism. There are evidences of a forget along this line.

SEEBREE withdrew, Scott withdrew, Slack disappeared, and all good Republicans have followed their leaders into the allied army of civil liberty in the Second district and the state. Scott was made chairman, Seebree wrote the resolutions, and made the nominating speech placing Hon. William Lynch under the log cabin for congress in the Second district. Honors have been distributed. Now let the lion and the lamb not lie down together but harness up together and work as never before for the triumph of the principles to which all are pledged and for a victory for Yerkes and for Lynch.

We are now giving our readers every two twelve pages of the best and liveliest matter, political, industrial, local and general that can be commanded by our force of writers and correspondents.

Gov. Roosevelt remarks that "the wage-earner is appealed to vote for Mr. Bryan on the ground that though he has prospered, the capitalist has prospered, too, and that no policy which does good to the capitalist should be followed, even though it benefits the wage-earner." It has been Bryan's policy from the first to draw class lines and stir up hatred among those who must work together.—Globe-Democrat.

Question Answered.

Yes, August Flower still has the largest sale of any medicine in the civilized world. Your mothers and grandmothers never thought of using anything else for indigestion or Bileousness. Doctors were scarce, and they seldom heard of Appendicitis, Nervous Prostration or Heart failure, etc. They used August Flower to clean out the system and stay formation of undigested food, regulate the action of the liver, stimulate the nervous and organic action of the system, and that is all they took when feeling dull and bad with headaches and other aches. You only need a few doses of Green's August Flower, in liquid form, to make you satisfied there is nothing serious the matter with you. For sale by St. Bernard drug store.

BRYANITES GET UP STRIKE.

Anthrax Trouble Fostered for Political Ends.

Miners' Agitation Manipulated by a Junta at Indianapolis.

Democratic Yellow Journals Send Special Commission to the Scene to Try to Soothe the Shock of Ex-

Special Correspondence of Globe-Democrat.

New York, Sept. 9.—The conditions which hedge about the pending strike of coal miners in the anthracite regions of Pennsylvania have assumed such shape within the last few days as to leave, practically no doubt that the whole agitation has resulted, if not directly, at least indirectly, from the efforts of the Bryanized Democracy. This feeling has been strong ever since the movement had its inception at Indianapolis, in which city the Democratic leaders have been at work ever since the spectacular Bryan and Stevenson notification exercise.

Then, too, the Democrats are straining every nerve to throw Indiana into the Democratic column, and the relation of the Pennsylvania trouble to the mining interests of the former State is hoped by the Democrats to bring about results in their favor. In view of these facts, the despatch from Allentown, Pa., published this morning, exposing the scheme, came as a surprise to only those who had not made a study of the situation. To none, however, did it come with such astonishing effect as to the miners themselves, who had not realized that their interests were being juggled with by the crowd at Indianapolis.

Simultaneously with the publication of the Allentown despatch, the miners read of the postponement of the strike. The men heard of this move of the Indianapolis junta, with the greatest satisfaction. Throughout the entire region this action is regarded as presaging the collapse of the entire strike movement. After the first flush of excitement and surprise over the news had died away the public suddenly became interested in the question as to what had brought about this sudden change of front.

The more the question has been considered the stronger has grown the impression that politics of the Bry brand has been at the bottom of the agitation. From Hazelton it is announced that there is already a revulsion of feeling and that the plot will act as the worst kind of a boomerang for those at the bottom of it. The question is being asked: "What kind of a party is it which will plunge a large part of a State into the misery attendant on a protracted strike, for the problematical governing of votes?"

Yellow Democratic journals have been helping along the scheme, but the sudden exposure of the plot has evidently frightened the Democratic politicians, for the newspapers in question have precipitated on the mining regions reporters whom they give the high-sounding titles of "special commissioners" and these are expected to nullify, as far as possible, the disastrous effects which their papers accounts of the situation "letting down easy" the Democratic plotters.

The most ridiculous, incendiary and almost criminal feature of the trouble is the part the yellow journals have taken. Their misleading illustrations and false news matter did more to prejudice the outside public against the people and coal operators of the mining region than anything else. A prominent and authentic authority in Wilkes-Barre region said today:

"The idea of the strike certainly originated in Indianapolis among the soft coal people. Whether they are pushed ahead by Democratic politicians or by self-interest in the hope of first destroying and then appropriating the anthracite market it is impossible to determine just yet, but the fact is evident that all orders received by local leaders come over the wires from that city which is the Mecca of all the agitators working here, who journey there about once a week."

Meanwhile the colliery whistles will blow as usual on Monday morning, and thousands of men will again take up their toil, glad to be able to do so.

A SAD OCCURRENCE.

Miss Cora Waller of Morgantown, Dies in a Doctor's Chair at Sturgis.

SOME THREATS OF A LYNCHING.

Her Grief Stricken Lover Sends a Bullet Through His Own Brain.

DR. CLARK MAKES A STATEMENT.

All West Kentucky was shocked by the news of the terrible tragedy, which occurred in Sturgis, Sunday night in which a doctor and two lovers were the principals. The following is a description of the affair as contained in a special from Morgantown in one of the dailies: "Morgantown, Ky., Sept. 9.—This city was thrown into a fever of excitement at 9 o'clock tonight by the news of a tragedy which occurred at Sturgis, 12 miles below here, at 8 o'clock tonight. As a result of the tragedy two prominent young people of this county lie dead at their respective homes and a cloud of sadness hovers over the entire county where the news of the deplorable happening has penetrated. The particulars, as near as can be obtained, are as follows:

"Sometime this afternoon Thomas Holt, a young man reared in this county and well connected, went to the home of Miss Cora Waller ostensibly to take her out for a drive. The couple drove immediately to Sturgis. On reaching that place they repaired to the office of Dr. B. E. Clark, a physician of that place. In a short while after the couple entered the office two pistol shots fired in quick succession started the inhabitants of the little village. A crowd of excited citizens rushed to the office, where a horrible sight met their gaze. Lying upon the floor was Miss Waller, dead, while across her still form lay the body of Thomas Holt, gasping for breath, with a bullet through his heart and brain. It is said that Holt stood by while the physician began a delicate and dangerous operation upon the young woman, and that while undergoing the operation she expired. As soon as the physician pronounced her dead young Holt drew a revolver, and placing it to his left breast, sent a bullet crashing through his heart, following it with a bullet through his brain. Holt fell across the body of Miss Waller.

Clark, the physician, and only eye witness to the terrible tragedy, was immediately arrested and hurried to the jail here.

"The families of the two unfortunate young people were notified and the remains taken to their respective homes.

"The dead girl was a member of one of the largest and most influential families of this county, as was also Thomas Holt.

"The true status of the case is unknown here, but the general belief is that Clark attempted to perform a criminal operation upon the young woman, which caused her death.

Morgantown, Ky., Sept. 11.—Before Dr. W. E. Clark, arrested in connection with the Waller-Holt tragedy at Sturgis, was taken from here to Henderson yesterday evening, he granted an interview to the Evening Post correspondent.

When asked for a statement Dr. Clark gave it at some length, without hesitating and with seeming frankness. He said:

"Sunday evening at about 8 o'clock as I sat in front of my residence in Sturgis, a buggy drove up, and a young man, a stranger to me, said he wished to see me at my office. My office is in my drugstore. I went to my office, entered and lit a lantern. Presently a man entered with a veiled lady bearing heavily on his arm. The man said he wished to see me privately, and I took him around behind the prescription case, leaving the lady standing in the front part of the store. The prescription case stands in the middle of the floor, and has curtains from either side to the adjacent walls.

"We had scarcely entered this inner recess, and before the man had time to tell me anything as to what he wanted, when I heard a rattling sound as a fall in the front part of the store. I pushed back the curtain and saw the lady lying on the floor. I said to the man, 'The lady has fainted,' and went to her. I tried to resuscitate her by artificial respiration, putting one palm against her back and one against her bosom, and told the man to wet his handkerchief in a bucket of water standing by and bathe her face, which he did. The man requested him to do nothing doing while I went for another doctor, telling him at the same time that I feared she had a heart stroke.

"I then left, stepped across the street to a restaurant, and telephoned for Dr. Barclay. He was not in and I returned to the office. As I entered I thought I noticed Mr. High Skinner present, but paid no attention to the fact at the time. I got the man to help me place the lady on my surgical chair, and laid my ear to her heart. I could distinctly hear the gurgle of regurgitating blood back through the valves of the heart, and I said to the man, 'This lady is dead; I can do nothing for her.' The man threw up his hands and cried, 'My God, then I'm ruined; I'm ruined forever!' and asked me to see if I could telephone for William Holt, who lives a few miles out in the country, and tell them to come to him immediately.

"I stepped over home, told my wife about what had happened, and tried to get the Holt boys by telephone, and returned to the office. As

For Malaria, Chills and Fever

THE BEST PRESCRIPTION IS Grove's Tasteless Chill Tonic.

The formula is plainly printed on every bottle—hence you know just what you are taking when you take Grove's. Imitators do not advertise their formula knowing that you would not buy their medicine if you knew what it contained. Grove's contains Iron and Quinine put up in correct proportions and is in a Tasteless form. The Iron acts as a tonic while the Quinine drives the malaria out of the system. Any reliable druggist will tell you that Grove's is the Original and that all other so-called Tasteless Chill Tonics are imitations. An analysis of other chill tonics shows that Grove's is superior to all others in every respect. You are not experimenting when you take Grove's—its superiority and excellence having long been established. Grove's is the only Chill Cure sold throughout the entire malaria sections of the United States. No Cure, No Pay. Price, 50c.

I got to the front door, Mr. Skinner met me and exclaimed, 'My God, Tom has shot himself!'

"I asked him, 'Tom who?' for I still didn't know who the man was who had called me to the office. Skinner answered, 'Why, Tom Holt has shot himself twice in here!' Consulting with Skinner as to what I had better do under the circumstances, he advised me to keep out of the way for awhile. I returned to my residence, but got to thinking about its looking guilty to run away that way, and determined to go back to the office.

"On my way I met or caught up with City Marshal Hamnaek, who remarked that I had better go with him to Morgantown. I told him all right, but requested he'd first go with me back to the office. He refused, and I came to Morgantown with him.

"He refused because, as he said, a crowd was gathering about the office; they were much excited, and no arrest—I came with him voluntarily.

"I heard this morning a criminal operation had been performed on Miss Waller prior to that night. I never gave her a dose of medicine, or touched her, only as I have told you. When I found she was dead I asked Holt if that was his wife, and he said no; it was Miss Waller. I had never seen her before. It was all horrible! My family, of course, are terribly distressed. I am not the least afraid of the law, for I am perfectly innocent in the matter. I'm satisfied the same thing would have happened if they had gone to any other drugstore, for the lady died of heartstroke, and a postmortem will show the heart full of clot of blood and prove it."

Foley's Honey and Tar for children, safe, sure. No opiates.

The matron of a well known Masonic Home mentions one inmate, seventy years of age, who has been in the infirmary for three years, a great sufferer from indigestion, and has been taking Ripans Tablets about a year and a half and finds them so beneficial that he is never without them. He is willing that his name should be used in a testimonial, as it might be of use in persuading some other person to try them. A second old gentleman, in the same institution, eighty-four years of age, has had liver trouble for many years and finds that R-I-P-A-N-S help him very much. They also have two nurses there, one thirty years of age, the other forty-two; both suffer from indigestion, causing headache, depression of spirits and nervousness. They take the Tablets and find them so useful that they always have a package in their pockets. The matron also states that she is forty-five years of age and at times suffers with indigestion, causing pain and paroxysms of belching, and finds that the Tablets are very good indeed and is perfectly willing to have her name used in a testimonial.

WANTED—A case of bad health that R-I-P-A-N-S will not benefit. They banish pain and soothe life. One bottle makes you feel better. Buy R-I-P-A-N-S on the package and never be deceived. LESSON XII, THIRD QUARTER, INTERNATIONAL SERIES, SEPT. 15.

Text of the Lesson, Luke xii, 43-51.
Memory Verses, 10-21—Golden Text.
Mark vii, 33—Commentary Prepared by the Rev. Dr. M. Strensen.
(Copyright, 1909, by American Press Association.)

13. "One of the company said unto Him." It was an innumerable multitude of people who trod one upon another (verse 1) to whom He had been speaking, but they were probably like those described in Isa. xlii, 13; Ezek. xxxiii, 31, honoring Him with their lips, while their hearts were far from Him, hearing His words, but not doing them. This man, at least, had not profited by the sermon, for his heart was full of covetousness; things seen and temporal were more to him than things unseen and eternal. He called our Lord "Master," but saying "Master" does not make a man a disciple (Math. vii, 21, 22).

14, 15. "Take heed and beware of covetousness." It is written of our Lord that "though He was rich, yet for our sakes He became poor" (II Cor. viii, 9), and this He did that we might forever enjoy His riches. This covetous man was the greatest possible contrast to Him who emptied Himself of all riches, and Himself of no reputation for us (Phil. ii, 7, 8, 9). He is our life, even life abundant, and no reputation for us (Ezek. ii, 10, 12; Col. iii, 4; John x, 10). Solomon possessed an abundance of all things, but he was covetous, but found only vanity and vexation of spirit therein, and what was any man to compare with such a king? (Ezek. ii, 10, 12). Let us give heed to Him who is our life, even life abundant, and no reputation for us (Ezek. ii, 10, 12; Col. iii, 4; John x, 10). Solomon possessed an abundance of all things, but he was covetous, but found only vanity and vexation of spirit therein, and what was any man to compare with such a king? (Ezek. ii, 10, 12). Let us give heed to Him who is our life, even life abundant, and no reputation for us (Ezek. ii, 10, 12; Col. iii, 4; John x, 10).

16, 17. "What shall I do, because I have no room where to bestow my fruits?" Our Lord takes advantage of the covetous man's weakness, and is comparable to the people. For He turns everything to good account. The rich man of the parable had a great house, and that center is himself and his possessions; he has no thought of others or of giving to them. He is a selfish man who gave him his fruits, nor give any evidence of gratitude to God, nor of any recognition of Him.

18, 19. "Soul, thou hast much goods laid up for many years; take heed, lest thy soul be left without thee." He heard the rich man talking to himself, for He knows all the things that come into our minds (Ezek. x, 5; Ps. cxi, 4). In this man's thoughts and words (verses 17-19) there are six sins and five my's. It is my barns, my goods, my fruits and my soul, as if the barn was for his soul and the goods were his fruits and goods. The only life that he knew was that of eating, drinking and being merry; dumb brute beasts could enjoy as much. In God's sight he was as one dead, for any one who lives in pleasure is dead while he lives (I Tim. vi, 6). He knew nothing of the kingdom of God, which is not meat and drink, but righteousness and peace and joy in the Holy Ghost (Rom. xiv, 17).

20. "Thou fool, this night thy soul shall be required of thee." Then whose soul shall these things be? Thus said God to him, the God who gave him life and breath and all things; but he did not consider it (Acts xvii, 29; I Tim. v, 20). He did not know or consider that he was entirely forgetful of the God who gave him being, kept him alive and caused his fields to produce as they did. How many people live on from day to day enjoying the gifts and constant care of Him who maketh His sun to rise on the evil and on the good and sendeth rain on the just and on the unjust (Math. v, 45) and never think of their Creator, much less of their Redeemer who His own self bear their sins in His own body on the cross! (I Pet. ii, 24). Long does He put up with such ingratitude, but the time always comes when each one must for himself meet God, and the word is always a reasonable one: "Prepare to meet thy God" (Amos iv, 12).

21. "So is he that layeth up treasure for himself and is not rich toward God." It is always, in all things, either one's own self or God. Our Lord Jesus never lived for Himself, never sought His own will or glory, nor lived to please Himself (John vi, 38; viii, 20; Rom. xv, 3), but did always those things that pleased the Father (John vii, 29). How shall we obtain this treasure, the treasure that is laid up for us and have our affections set on things above, not on things on the earth? (Verses 23-24; Col. iii, 1-2). His word to Nicodemus is the answer. We must be born again or we cannot come from above; we must love Him who died for us and truly receive Him, putting all our trust in His blood, which was shed for us (John iii, 3, 5, 7, 12; Lev. xlvii, 11; Acts iv, 12). He is the road tried in the fire, and His is the white raiment and the everlasting life. We must lay up our treasure in the dust that the Almighty may become our treasure (Rev. iii, 18; Job xlii, 24, 25, R. V.).

22, 23. "And He said unto His disciples, Therefore I say unto you, take no thought for your life: what ye shall eat; neither for the body what ye shall put on." This is now a special word for His disciples, who, having received Him, are rich toward God, being through poverty made rich, and, having forsaken all for Him, He assures them that God, who is now their Father, will see that all their need is supplied. God, who cares for ravens and feeds them, and fills lilies and clothes them, will much more feed and clothe them (verses 24-25) who are His children. How precious are the promises of God in this connection! "He who spared not His own Son, but delivered Him up for us all, how shall He not with Him also freely give us all things?" "No good thing will He withhold from them that walk uprightly" (Rom. viii, 32; Phil. iv, 19; Ps. lxxviii, 11). For a child of God to be grasping or covetous, as if he might not have enough of the Father's goods, is very dishonoring to His Father in heaven. The ungodly child in a home who seems to find his greatest joy in giving his things to others that they may be happy will not be well cared for and abundantly supplied with all he can desire by his watchful and thoughtful parents. How much more will our Heavenly Father care for His children and in a special manner for all who in quietness and confidence leave all to Him (Math. vi, 17; Isa. xxx, 15). Our lack of this quietness is because of our lack of intimate acquaintance with our Father in heaven, for they that know Him trust in Him, and the people that know their God are strong and do not fear. He is glorified in them (Dan. xii, 32; Gen. i, 24).

CHRISTIAN ENDEAVOR.

Topic For the Week Beginning Sept. 13—Comment by Rev. H. Doyle.

Topic—The broad way, the narrow way—John xii, 1-14.

Christ here uses the familiar illustration of a way to describe life. He points out that there are two ways, one of which we must follow, and then describes these ways by contrast. He speaks of the gates (the entrances to the way), the ways themselves, the ends of the way, and the number who travel them. In this order let us study these solemn words of the Master.

1. The wide gate and the strait gate. The gate or entrance to the broad way is wide. It is easy to go through, because in entering it we follow our natural inclinations, and it is easier to do this than to go against them. The gate or entrance to the narrow way is strait or straitened or pressed together, so that it is difficult of entrance. Christ Himself is the door to the Christian life, and we find Christ through repentance and faith. All recognize the fact that the human heart naturally inclines toward sin and from Christ rather than from sin to Christ; hence the wide and strait gates.

2. The broad way and the narrow way. The way of sin and the world is not only more easily entered than the Christian way, but it is easier to follow. It is broad; the other is narrow. A broad way is easier traveled than a narrow way, particularly the narrow way of the east. It is hard to live a Christian life even after we enter the strait gate. We still go against our natural inclinations. It is easy to travel on the broad way because we are going with the stream. In the world we go with the current; in Christ we go against it. The one is therefore easier to travel than the other.

3. The broad way leads to destruction, the narrow way to life. The end of the one is hell, eternal separation of the soul from God. The end of the other is heaven, the eternal life of the soul with God. The end of the way should determine which one we should travel. A wide and prudent man looks at the end of a road to determine whether or not he will enter it. What though the entrance be easy and pleasant if the end is death? Hell is robbed of none of its sorrows because we reach it by an easy road. On the other hand, what though the entrance to a road is difficult and dark, and the road is hard to travel if the end pays, if the end is eternal life? The joys of heaven will be all the sweeter because they have been difficult of attainment and because they have caused us toil and labor, self denial and sacrifice.

4. Many go in at the wide gate and travel the broad way. Few find the strait gate and enter it. If this is true, it is no reason why we should enter the broad way or travel upon it. To know that millions are poor does not alleviate the sufferings that sometimes come as a result of poverty. To know that millions were dying of hunger or thirst would not lessen our sufferings if we were in the same condition. The numbers of the lost will not detract from the sorrow of the lost. Let us follow the voice of wisdom and enter and travel upon the road that leads to eternal life.

THE PRAYER MEETING.
Make this meeting evangelistic in character, giving assistance members or others present an opportunity to enter the strait gate to the narrow way, which leads to life.

OUR COLORED CITIZENS.

The miners of the George's Creek country, Maryland, after being on a strike for four months, at the behest of the United Mine Workers, have returned to work at the same wages they were receiving when they quit. The four months' idleness of the mine caused that region to lose many coal contracts, and the result is that after four months of idleness, many men can not now get work to do.

The miners of the George's Creek region have been paid better wages than in most coal fields, and have had much more regular work, and the relation between operator and miner has always been pleasant. The four months' strike compelled customers to get other coal, with the result that many of them who always demanded George's Creek coal find they can get as good coal and cheaper elsewhere and will not buy this coal longer. The result of this strike, forced by the United Mine Workers and lead by Dilcher, who was notorious during the Evansville strike and assassination, as the patron of saloons and bawdy houses, is that several thousand miners lost four months' wages and then went to work at the same price at which they quit. That the George's Creek coal field lost much business, and hundreds of miners are compelled to leave their homes and seek work elsewhere.

Dilcher & Co. are not popular in this region any more and the fellow that calls "cock" at a miner is quickly thrashed into a realization that prudent people keep decent tongues in their heads. These same United Mine Workers now propose to take charge of the coal business in the anthracite field of Pennsylvania. One of the board members says: "We will certainly issue the order for a general strike, and the country may as well be satisfied with this statement. We care little what the operators have to say as to the impending distress in the Wyoming or other valleys. We are running things from Indianapolis now. The statement that there will be great distress does not worry us; we will take care of our men if they go on a strike and will not ask the operators for any financial assistance. True enough these creatures care nothing for the distress a strike causes. The sufferings of tens of thousands of women and children are nothing to such people as Mitchell, Dilcher, Purcell & Co., who all draw for salaries, and whose business it is to make such suffering. What a fare is the statement, "We will take care of our men if they go on a strike. Ask the 3,000 or 4,000 men in the Southwest, who get less than forty-two cents per week from these "care-takers," ask the women and children of Barsley, Oak Hill and Boxtown about the "care" they have received the past six months, and then imagine how well this thing will take care of one hundred thousand miners and their families in Pennsylvania, who now get four millions of dollars per month for their wages. Care for a moment, Mitchell, Dilcher and Purcell, and Wood and Campbell thrown in (with their boasted assessment of $7.00 to $8.00 per month on each miner at work in Western Kentucky who is a member of the order) as "taking care" of a population that consumes the value of four millions of dollars per month. If this great order, rich only in strikes, suffering and oppression, can pay but forty-two cents per week to 4,000 men, how much can it pay per week to 104,000 men?

Wood and Campbell refused to let the men keep the mines at Central City in repair during the thirty days' strike. The result is that about seventy-five men have been thrown out of work, and must seek new homes as there is no room for them in the mines to work, a main entry being practically lost. The families who now have to emigrate have only Wood and Campbell to thank. The Barsley man who collected grub money for the U. M. W. and forgot to divide it out, had better pay it out to some merchant at Mortons Gap, who, report says, needs cash for goods advanced. With Wood and Campbell boasting of the collections they get, why not send that Barsley man as a committee to them and get a divide-up? Of course Wood and Campbell must live and "expenses" are great. Colored boys of Hopkins County, don't you want to "fine" that order?
